and the siege of Petersburg, as well as divers papers relating to the truce between Genl. Sherman and Genl. Jos. E. Johnston, and other matters appertaining to Sherman's raid through Georgia, The Carolinas, &c.

The Military Telegrams are those received by Genl. Beauregard from the various Generals of his command from the commencement to the end of the War. In fact, they are the finger-post pointing to the locations, and give the reason why certain fields were chosen for conflict.

The proclamations are of more than passing interest, and include Genl. Beauregard's noted "Beauty and Booty" Proclamation, 1861. Genl. Johnston and Beauregard's Address to the Army after the first Battle of Bull Run, July 25, 1861. The Special Order No. 44, issued by Genl. Beauregard, containing a copy of Genl. Butler's notorious order No. 28 about the women of New Orleans.

There are also many important letters from Genl. Beauregard during his military service in the War with Mexico.

We could write indefinitely in describing the papers in this collection, but as the catalogue has been faithfully compiled, I hope that these few remarks will be a sufficent inducement for my patrons to give it their careful attention.

CATALOGUE

CONFEDERATE GENERALS.

869 Adams, Daniel W. Brig.-General. A. L. S. 4 pages, 8vo. New York, July 14, 1870. To Gen. Beauregard.
In reference to Beauregard tendering his services to the Sultan of Turkey.

"A paragraph is going the rounds of the papers, said to be on the information of a Parisian Correspondent, that a Colonel Butler, nephew of the Beast who Prest. Grant sent as Consul to Cairo had protested against the employment of any more Confederates & especially yourself & it looks plausible, as it States that negotiations were pending. The number of officers you would take with you & says further that the appointment had been tendered, but was withheld after his protest," &c.

870 Adams, Wirt. Brig.-General. A. L. S. 3 pages, 4to. Vicksburg, Nov. 18, 1868. To Genl. Beauregard.
An interesting letter in reference to the Darien Canal.

871 The Same. A. L. S. 4 pages, 4to. New York, Nov. 24, 1868. To Genl. Beauregard.

872 The Same. A series of A. L. S. 8vo or 4to, dating between 1868 and 1874. To Genl. Beauregard. 4 pieces
On private business matters.

873 Alexander, E. Porter. Brig.-General. Celebrated Artillery Officer. A. L. S. 4 pages, 8vo. Columbia, July 9, 1867. To Genl. Beauregard.
In reference to reviewing Swinton's "Army of the Potomac," which he has been requested to do for the "Presbyterian Review."

"I want to correct a few errors of fact wh. Swinton has fallen into. The most important of these I believe is his statement that your magnificent defence of Petersburg (June 15 to 18th 1864) was made by the whole or greater part of Gen. Lee's army, instead of by the handful of men whom you had. He says that on the 15th Genl. Lee commenced crossing at Drury's Bluff, that the van of his column arrived in Petersburg during the night of the 15th. Now my recollection of these matters is that Hoke's Div^{n} was sent to U when we left Cold Harbor lines, that it arrived in Petersburg on the night of the 15th (after the first assault) & that not another man of Gen. Lee's army crossed the Appomattox until say 8 A. M. on the 18th & that only one Divn (Kershaw's) was put in line that day, (until after dark) or assisted in repelling the last grand assault at 3 P. M. on the 18th which was in fact so feebly made that I never knew it was intended to be serious until I read Swinton. As I am very anxious to be entirely accurate & precise in any statement, I may publish, will you be so kind as to write me the facts * * * I think that justice to the valor of our men demands that their successful fight against such odds should be known."

874 The Same. A. L. S. 2 pages, 8vo. Columbia, Aug. 3, 1867. To Genl. Beauregard.
In reference to the same subject.

875 The Same. A. L. S. 2 pages, 4to. Opelika, Ala., Jan. 31, 1874. To Genl. Beauregard.
In reference to a History of Longstreet's Corps.

"After spending four years & a good deal of money on it in various ways & collecting a good deal that was worth preserving, I have just arranged to turn it all over to the So. Hist. Society in Richd for preservation in their archives."

876 Beauregard, Pierre Gustave Toutant. General. Commanded the Defences of Charleston, S. C., at the Bombardment of Fort Sumter, and at the Battle of Rull Run, where he was victorious. Commanded at Shiloh, after the death of Gen. A. S. Johnston. A. L. S. 2 pages, 8vo. New Orleans, April 12th, 1868. To Messrs. Beresford Hope, John Laird and others, of London.
His draft of his letter in reference to giving information for the building of a Street Railway in London. Similar to one he constructed in New Orleans, which pays from 12 per cent. to 20 per cent. dividends.

877 The Same. L. S. 3 pages, 4to. New Orleans, July 16, 1870. To Maj.-Genl. S. W. Crawford.
In reference to the condition of works on Morris Island, &c., in March, 1861.

"We condemned, as Engineers, the System of works being then (1861) constructed on Morris Island, by the local Engineers, for the attack on Fort Sumter. They were injudiciously crowding all their guns and mortars at and about Commins' Point almost disregarding the Channel Entrance. I ordered at once a system of detached batteries along the shore, to command the Morris Island Channel, and prevent reinforcements from being thrown into the Fort; then I ordered the mortar batteries to be put as far as practicable beyond the range of the Forts guns, and located at every available point on the bay, around a circumference of which the Fort should be the centre, in order to concentrate thereon the fire of all my batteries. I ordered the floating battery to take a position near the Western end of Sullivan's Island, to command and enfilade the postern face of the fort, and a masked battery, not far from said point, to enfilade one of the heaviest armed faces of the fort. This battery was to be unmasked (by pulling down a small house in front of it) only at the moment of opening its fire, which was done accordingly. The Mount Pleasant mortar battery only completed the 'circle of fire' with which I intended to envelope the Fort," &c.

878 The Same. A. L. S. 4 pages, 8vo. New Orleans, Dec. 8, 1874. To Major Marrin.

An interesting letter, reminisential of the war.

879 The Same. A. L. S. 4 pages, 4to. New Orleans, April 9, 1874. To Major Marrin.

Submitting various queries, in the way of substantiating that he was Commander in Chief at the Battle of Manassas.

880 The Same. L. S. 4 pages, folio. New Orleans, April 12, 1874. To Major W. J Marrin.

A long and interesting letter in reference to Gen. Jos. E. Johnston's claim that he was in command at Manassas, denying the same, and fortifying his denial with facts, and admitting that his and Genl. Johnston's military ideas were entirely different.

"I always favored a short & quick war, which should be decided by a few Great Battles. I was convinced that a long War, owing to the nature of our Institutions & the vast resources of all kinds of the Federals, would result disastrously to us."

881 The Same. A copy of a letter of his with postscript of 4 lines, autograph and signed with initials. 12 pages, 4to. New Orleans, April 1, 1875. To Col. Chas. C. Jones.

Relative to Jones' Narrative of the defence and evacuation of Savannah by the Confederate troops under General Hardee in December, 1864.

882 The Same. Copy of a letter of his with postscript of two lines, signted with initials. 6 pages, 4to. New Orleans, March 9, 1877. 6 pages, 4to. To Col. Wm. Preston.

Relative to the preparations at Corinth, Mississippi, for the Battle of Shiloh, 1862.

883 The Same. A. L. S. 4 pages, folio. Aug. 12, 1877. To Col. W. P. Johnston.

Relative to operations at Madrid Bend in the Spring of 1862, and the plans he used to fortify Fort Pillow. Tells how he sent Genl. McCown to defend Madrid Bend at any cost, how he failed, and was consequently superseded in command by Genl. Mackall, who, on being told of the desperate nature of the command, answered Beauregard by saying:

"General, however difficult the situation may be, I am ready to perform my duty to the best of my ability."

And Beauregard says:

"Which he did to my entire satisfaction."

Beauregard further says:

"Genl. Mackall ought to be able to give you reliable information on the subject. Pope's & Halleck's report and statement are not to be depended upon. They have not the least regard for truth."

884 The Same. A. L. S. 4 pages, 4to. New York, Oct. 2, 1878. To Genl. Daniel Ruggles.
Correcting errors in Col. W. P. Johnston's life of his father as to military operations in the Civil War.

885 The Same. A. L. S. 3 pages, 8vo. New Orleans, Nov. 30, 1877. To Col. W. P. Johnston.
Relative to the Battle of Shiloh.

886 The Same. A. L. S. 4 pages, 4to. Magnolia Plantation, La., June 10, 1876. To Major Marrin.
An interesting letter giving much valuable information on the Defence of Petersburg.

887 The Same. Copy of a letter. 3 pages, folio. State House, La., May 30, 1880. To Hon. I. G. Harris. The letter written and Signed by his son, Toutant Beauregard.
In reference to the Battle of Shiloh.

888 The Same. A. L. S. 2 pages, 4to. New Orleans, June 11, 1880. To Judge Alf. Roman.
An interesting letter in reference to the Battle of Shiloh and Defence of Port Hudson, where Genl. Tilghman lost his life, and to whom Beauregard wants the judge do justice in writing an article on that event.

889 The Same. A. L. S. 2 pages, 8vo. New Orleans, Jan. 21 and March 12, 1881. To Judge Alf. Roman. 2 pieces
In reference to the Battle of Shiloh.

890 The Same. Autograph Manuscript, Signed. 4 pages, 4to. New Orleans, May 20, 1881.

"Memoranda for Judge Roman, referring to Drury's Bluff and Petersburg Campaigns." Of intense historical interest.

891 The Same. A. L. S. 3 pages, 8vo. New Orleans, May 24, 1881. To Judge Alf. Roman.

In reference to errors about the Defence of Petersburg, in Cooke's Life of Lee and McCabe's book.

"These gross misstatements of facts ought to be corrected * * * I think that in view of the great odds against us & and the gallantry of our '10.000' surpassing even those of Xenophen, we onght to name & pay a deserved compliment to Gen's Hoke & Johnson & their Brigade Commander, as well as to my staff officers, especially that old Roman Col. Harris, to all of whose zeal, indefatigableness, & coolness under the most trying circumstances, we owe our success," &c.

892 The Same. Copy of his letter to Gov. Johnson Hagood, of S. C. 2 pages, 4to. New Orleans, July 2, 1881.

A scathing review of Jeff Davis' "Rise and Fall of the Confederacy."

"I have been astounded at his many gross & misrepresentations of well known facts & events. I know not whether to attribute to his prejudices & inordinate egotism, or to the infirmities of old age, * * * What a fall, from the honored Presidency of the late Glorious Confederacy, to being a defamer of his former co-associates.! Pooh! he stinks in my nostrils."

893 The Same. A. L. S. 3 pages, 4to. Warm Springs, N. C., Sept. 15, 1881. To Gen. J. A. Early.

Referring to misrepresentations in Jefferson Davis' book relative to Gen. Beauregard's military operations during the war and which he considers it incumbent on him to correct, for the sake of truth, and to aid the future historian.

894 The Same. A. L. in pencil, 6 pages, folio. Warm Springs, N. C., Sept., 1881. To Genl. J. A. Early.

A rough draft of his letter, criticising Jefferson Davis' "Rise and Fall of the Confederacy."

895 The Same. A. L. S. 3 pages, 8vo. New Orleans, July 10, 1882. To Judge Alf. Roman.

In reference to publishing his book.

901 Bonham, Milledge L. Brig.-General. Celebrated Cavalry Officer. A. L. S. 2 pages, 4to. Columbia, S. C., Jan. 5, 1884. To Genl. Beauregard.

In reference to Beauregard's Book, and correcting some mistakes about his command, made by Genl. Thos. Jordan.

902 The Same. L. S. 2 pages, 4to. Columbia, S. C., Dec. 4, 1883. To Genl. Beauregard. With copies of letters of Staff Officers of Genl. Bonham.

Correcting an error of Genl. Thos. Jordan, in reference to Genl. Bonham being surprised at Centreville on Oct. 29, 1861, with the statement of his staff, correcting Jordan's error.

903 Bragg, Braxton. General. A. L. S. 4 pages, 4to. Near Lowndesboro, Ala., Feb. 9, 1866. To Genl. Beauregard.

An interesting letter, giving not very complimentary reminiscences of Genl. W. T. Sherman.

"The strange newspaper publication from General Sherman's pen had attracted my attention, but I have passed it by as not worth the candle necessary for me to answer it. After resigning his position as Superintendant of the Louisiana Military Institute, General Sherman spent some days in New Orleans, where we both boarded at the Saint Louis Hotel. Such had been his course, and such his professions, that we continued on confidential terms. He never hesitated to express his regret and disapproval of the course the South was pursuing. And I recollect distinctly his prediction that we would be subjugated by the North, in time, though for a while, by gallantry and dash, we might be successful. His reasons often recur to me as almost prophetic. He said we had the Spirit & gallantry, but not the tenacity & selfsacrificing persistency of purpose to make them effective. He more than once said to me that he should take no part in the controversy as it would be unnatural and impossible for him to Serve in Arms against a people who had laid him under so many obligations by acts of generous kindness and hospitality, to himself and family. His last conversation on this subject was free and unrestrained, and in the presence of several parties of high standing now living. Since the close of the war two ladies of New Orleans Mrs. O. E. Hall, wife of the proprietor of the St Charles & St Louis Hotels, and her sister Mrs. Edwards, now Mrs. Kearney, have reminded me of this conversation in their presence in the St Louis Hotel in Jany & Feby 1861. They stated the case very strongly, and volunteered their evidence to convict him. It was no pledge of Genl. Sherman, but a voluntary declaration of purpose. He added, that most of his friends, and all his relatives his interests and his allegiance were with the North, he should consequently return there; seek some secluded spot, and quietly await the issue. It was my fortune to serve long and intimately in our Old Army with Genl. Sherman. Some of the pleasantest days of my youth were thus spent with him in South Carolina in 1843 and 1844. We both of us partook of the generous hospitality, for which that people were so distinguished. And when I recall the horrors and atrocities inflicted on this same people by his army and under his orders in 1865. I fully agree with him in the closing Yankee sentiment of his most extraordinary letter. 'If I have been a scourge, think how much better that it was I than Ben Butler,' &c. It was better in two senses. We have learned to appreciate a Yankee, concealed and disguised as his character may be by time, & deceit, and Sherman, not Butler, enjoys the benefit of Spoons & plate from which South Carolina hospitality was intended to him. * * * I omitted to mention a little fact, which it seems Genl. Sherman has forgotten, among many others. After entering on his duties as Superintendant of the Military Institute, he often mentioned the inadequacy of his salary. When in Baton Rouge during the Session of the Legislature (in 59 & 60, I think), I drew a bill with my own hands and procured its passage, adding $500 to his pay. I had his letters acknowledging these and many other obligations, but they were stolen with much other private property, including my Books, papers, Horses &c &c by his brother 'Scourge' Weitzel, when he drove my wife from her home, and distributed her wardrobe to the negroes."

904 Butler, Matthew C. Major-General. Celebrated Cavalry Officer. A. L. S. 3 pages, 8vo. Washington, March 21, 1879. To Genl. Beauregard.

905 Chalmers, James R. Brig.-General. A. L. S. folio. Belen, Miss, Sept. 28, 1878. To Genl. Beauregard.
Answering inquiries in reference to his command in the Civil War.

906 Cheatham, Benj. F. Maj.-Genl. L. S. 3 pages, 4to. Nashville, Nov. 27, 1876. To Genl. Beauregard.

Relative to the movements of his command at Shiloh, together with his Official Report of the Battle of Shiloh, from a Knoxville paper of the time.

907 Early, Jubal A. Lieutenant-General. A. L. S. 4 pages, 8vo. Lynchburg, March 7, 1871. To Genl. Beauregard.

A caustic review of Sherman's book, noting errors in it, &c.

908 The Same. A. L. S. 4 pages, 8vo. May 12, 1874. To Genl. Beauregard.

Full of incidents relative to the war.

909 The Same. A. L. S. 4 pages, 4to. Lynchburg, July 11, 1873. To Genl. Beauregard. Damaged in lower margin.

Giving his views of the "Unification Movement" in Louisiana, which he does not countenance, and very ably argues against it.

910 The Same. A. L. S. 4 pages, 8vo. Lynchburg, March 17, 1874. To Genl. Beauregard.

Critically reviewing Sherman's Memoirs, and commenting on the errors contained therein.

911 The Same. A. L. S. 4 pages, 8vo. Lynchburg, Nov. 20th, 1874. To Genl. Beauregard.

Giving his views as to who was in command at the first battle of Manassas (Bull Run).

"The General (Johnston) admits that he yielded to you the command of all the troops that were on the field when you and he arrived on the left, but that he retained the general Command and directed the movement of all the troops which came up afterwards. This statement is in accordance with my knowledge as far as it went, for on my arrival I found General Johnston on the field, though in rear of our line, as it was right for him to be, and I received my orders from him in person."

912 The Same. A. L. S. 4 pages, 8vo. Lynchburg, Jan. 31, 1879. To Genl. J. B. Hood.

In reference to the Louisiana Lottery, and regretting that he was unable to see Gov. Nicholls to impart to him constitutional reasons why he should veto the bill repealing the Charter of the Lottery Company.

913 The Same. A. L. S. 4 pages, 8vo. Lynchburg, Feb. 22, 1879. To Genl. Beauregard.

In reference to appealing to the Supreme Court to pass on the constitutionality of the repeal of the Charter of the Louisiana Lottery, and refusing to use his influence with the State of Virginia to better the condition of a Mrs. Chas. A. Floyd.

"She is not in a state of destitution by a good deal. She has a son in Texas, and the one here is an able bodied young man, who, while I don't think he will ever make much of a lawyer, could cultivate the farm and support the family."

914 The Same. A. L. S. 8 pages, 8vo. Lynchburg, April 4, 1881. To Genl Beauregard, with autograph notes, signed with initials, by Genl Beauregard.

In reference to the 7th Louisiana Regiment in the war. A long and interesting letter, containing much important historical data relating to the battle of Bull Run.

915 The Same. A. L. S. 4 pages, 8vo. Lynchburg, April 11, 1881. To Genl Beauregard.

Referring to the Battle of Bull Run, and his mistaking the drooping colors of a regiment in the front to be Confederate, which proved later to be a Union flag and regiment

"I can very well understand how you could have mistaken the Confederate flag when furled for the U. S. flag, for on that same day I made the same mistake by taking the U. S. flag for the Confederate flag. As I was advancing up the side of the Mill at Chinn's House, Lieutenant McDonald of Elzey's staff came galloping to me and exclaimed 'For God's sake don't fire in that regiment in your front, it is the 13th Virginia Regiment, one of the best regiments in the service.' To which I replied, 'By God they have been firing on my men' and he replied 'I know they have but it is all a mistake.' I then halted my men on the side of the hill, when half way up it, and rode to the top. On getting there I found the troops that had been in my immediate front, had disappeared, but on my right about 150 yards distant I saw a regiment faced towards our line, but not firing, with its flag drooping around the staff so that I could not distinguish what flag it was. It occurred to me at once that if the troops immediately in my front were a Virginia Regt this one that I saw must also be a Confederate regiment, or the same regiment closed up. Just then the battery with Stuart, which had moved forward beyond my left and gotten to the top of the hill, opened on the regiment. I was looking at the shot passing not more than 20 feet in my front. I at once directed one of the staff officers with me to gallop to Stuart, and tell him not to fire as it was one of our regiments he was firing at. I had scarcely given the order when there came a shot from the Battery, which caused the regiment to face about, and start down the hill on the other side, when the flag unfurled and I distinguished it to be a U. S. Flag," &c.

916 The Same. A. L. S. 2 pages, 8vo. Lynchburg, April 27, 1881. To Genl. Beauregard.

Relative to the 13th Mississippi Regiment at the Battle of Manassas, and the flag borne by this Regiment on that day.

917 The Same. A. L. S. 20 pages, 4to. Allegheny Springs, Aug. 27, 1881. To Genl. Beauregard.

A manly and beautiful letter, reviewing Jefferson Davis' "Rise and Fall of the Confederacy," and upholding him against the aspersions of Genl. Beauregard and others (who took exceptions to many statements therein), which he attributed to over zealousness. He quotes important facts connected with the Battles of Bull Run, Shiloh, Defences of Petersburg, &c., and ends by giving this advice to Beauregard:

"From what you have said to me, especially when I furnished you the written narrative before referred to, I take it for granted that General Jordan is assisting you in the preparation of your proposed book. If such is the case, I must take the liberty of cautioning you against his intemperate zeal, for you have reason to fear much from it. I trust you will understand and appreciate the motive which prompt me to say this, as well as to write this letter. I assure you that all that I now say to you, is the result of the great regard I have for you, and my anxious desire to see you avoid all blunders and mistakes which may do injury to yourself. Moreover it is exceedingly unpleasant to me to see any controversy among Coufederates, and if I engaged in controversy with Mahone and Longstreet, it was only when they had demonstrated their treachery, and justice to others required that I should do so." He also says: "Mr. Davis thinks that General Johnston (Albert S) was the greatest Military Commander on either side during the War. I don't think so, but I have no doubt he is sincere in his conviction, and he knew Genl. Johnston personally, which I did not. I am not therefore going to quarrel with his opinion. I believe that General Lee is entitled to stand in the foremost rank of the Military Commanders of all ages and countries, if he is not ahead of all of them. Some people don't think as I do, but I shall entertain my conviction to the last."

918 Echols, John. Brig.-General. A. L. S. 2 pages, 4to. Staunton, Va., March 11, 1874.

In reference to the letter addressed by Genl. Lee to Genl. Rosecrans, and proving that it was written by Lee himself, and not dictated by others as asserted by A. H. H. Stuart.

919 Ferguson, Samuel W. Brig.-General. Noted Cavalry Commander. A. L. S. 7 pages, 4to. Greenville, Miss., Jan. 24, 1876. To Genl. Beauregard.

Giving his recollections relative to operations in West Tennessee in the Winter and Spring of 1862. Very interesting.

920 The Same. A. L. S. 3 pages, 4to. Greenville, April 18, 1879. To Genl. Beauregard.

War memoirs. Relative to his departure from Jackson, Tennessee till his arrival at Murfreesboro, and matters at that place.

921 The Same. A. L. S. 2 pages, 4to. Greenville, May 19, 1879. To Genl. Beauregard.

Relative to his trip from Corinth to Murfreesboro, Feb. 1862, to bear to Gov. Harris and Genl. A. S. Johnston despatches calling for troops to be concentrated at and about Corinth.

922 Forrest, Nathan B. Lieut.-General. L. S. 4to. Memphis, May 9, 1868. To Genl. Beauregard. Damaged.

923 Gibson, Randall L. Brig.-General. A. L. S. 2 pages, 4to. New Orleans, Nov. 21, 1874. To Genl. Beauregard.

Congratulating him on a political victory.

924 The Same. A. L. S. 8 pages, 8vo. Washington, Aug. 29, 1875. To Genl. Beauregard.

Giving reminiscences of the battle of Shiloh and the unjust treatment of Genl. Bragg.

925 The Same. A. L. S. 4to. Washington, Dec. 30, 1875. To Genl. Beauregard. And a copy of a letter of Genl. R. L. Gibson, June 14, 1867. To Genl. Beauregard. 2 pieces

In reference to Vicksburg and Manassas.

"Let me keep the papers about Vicksburg all together until we meet when I will prepare a brief statement which you can sign officially and transmit to the War Department it can then be called for by Congress and in that way best come before the public in an official shape. That will place definitely the credit for the fortification of Vicksburg where it rightly belongs. The fact is, the Mississippi party, including the President, wish to claim credit for fortifying and making the stand at Vicksburg, but the truth is that you, of your volition, & without suggestion, ditermined to fortify it, and anticipated in your first instructions, the Yankee attempt to cut a Canal. The record is complete and I am strongly in favor of the official report rather than any other publication * * * Buell appears to have blundered in Tennessee. Surely he & Rozencrantz ought to have effected a sudden juncture somewhere in the quarter of Columbia, and with their united & largely superior force ought to overwhelm Genl. Braggs forces. It was certainly in the power of Rozencrantz to have thrown his forces quietly across the Tennessee at Pittsburg-Landing and to have made the march & Junction without our knowledge until too late, but they have not tried it, & I feel sure now Buell is in retreat to Kentucky."

A long letter in reference to his business affairs. He speaks of having met Gen. Jos. E. Johnston in Savannah, and says:

"I had a long conversation with him touching our mutual friend Davis. I do hope Johnston will not be led away from his purpose of writing a memoir which he is so well fitted to do. He and yourself should concert together for a thorough exposition of the wicked follies through which Davis brought a great movement to a shameful end; almost rediculous end, and Genl. Lee too cannot write without making

JEFFERSON DAVIS' ANSWER TO BEAUREGARD'S LETTER RELATIVE TO A PLAN OF CAMPAIGN IN VIRGINIA, 1861.

1002 The Same. L. S. 3 pages, 4to. Richmond, June 13, 1861. To Genl. Beauregard, Com'dg. Manassas Junction.

An important historical letter in answer to that of Genl. Beauregard's, in which he suggested that Genl. Jos. E. Johnston's Army be concentrated with his, and he could then retake Arlington Heights and Alexandria. We quote the letter in full:

"Colonel Jones delivered to me your letter of the 12th inst. and as suggested by you I conversed with him of the matters to which it related. Your information may be more accurate than we possess in relation to the purposes of the enemy and I will briefly reply to you upon the hypotheses which forms the bases of your suggestions

If the enemy commence operations by attack upon Harper's Ferry, I do not perceive why Genl. Johnston should be unable even before overwhelming numbers to retire behind the positions where the enemy would approach in reverso. It would seem to me not unreasonable to expect that before he reached Winchester the terminus of the Railroad in his possession, the people of the fertile and populous Valley would rise in mass to aid him in repelling the invader, but suppose it should be otherwise, he could still by retiring to the passes on the Manassas Railroad and its adjacent Mountains probably check the progress of the enemy, and prevent him from either taking possession of the Valley, or passing to the rear of your position. We hope soon to reinforce you to an extent equal to the strength you require by the junction of Genl. Johnston, and I cannot doubt but that you will agree with me that you would then be better circumstanced to advance upon Alexandria than if Genl. Johnston, by withdrawing from the Valley, had left the enemy the power to pass your rear to cut your line of communication and advance to attack you in reverse, whilst you were engaged with the enemy in front.

Concurring fully with you in the effect which would be produced by the possession of Arlington Heights and Alexandria if your rear is at the same time sufficiently covered, it is quite clear that if the case should be otherwise your possession, if acquired would be both brief and fruitless. To your request that a concerted plan of operation should be adopted, I can only reply that the present position and unknown purposes of the enemy require that our plan should have many alterations. I have noted your converging lines upon Richmond and it can hardly be necessary to remind you that we have not at this time the transportation which would enable us to move upon those lines as described. Should the fortune of war render it necessary to retire our advance columns they must be brought mainly upon Rail Roads and that of Harper's Ferry would come by your present position. It would therefore, be a necessity that Genl. Johnston column should make a junction with yours before yours retired, but I have not anticipated the necessity of your retreat, and have struggled rather to increase your force, and look hopefully forward to see you enabled to assume the offensive. Had I been less earnestly engaged in providing for yours and other commands, I should have had the pleasure of visiting you before this date. Four regiments have been sent forward neither of which had reached you at the date of your letter, and you will soon receive further reinforcements. They are not trained troops, but I think they are better than those of the enemy, and the capacity of which you have recently exhibited successfully to fight with undisciplined Citizens justifies the expectation that you will know how to use such force as we are able to furnish." This letter is accompanied by a copy of Genl. Beauregard's letter, to which the above is an answer.

1003 The Same. A. L. S. 3 pages, 4to. Richmond, Aug. 4, 1861. To Genl. Beauregard.

1004 The Same. A. L. S. 3 pages, 8vo. Richmond, Oct. 30, 1861. To Genl. Beauregard.

This is the celebrated letter in which Davis accuses Beauregard of trying to exalt himself, at his expense, as Beauregard had asserted that Mr. Davis had prevented him from moving on, and capturing Washington. We quote it in full.

"Yesterday my attention was called to various newspaper publications purporting to have been sent from Manassas and to be a synopsis of your report of the battle of the 21st of July last, and in which it is represented that you had been overruled by me in your plan for a battle with the Enemy south of the Potomac, for the capture of Baltimore and Washington, and the liberation of Maryland.

I inquired for your long expected report and it has today been submitted to my inspection; it appears by official endorsement to have been received by the Adj't Gen'l. on the 15th of Oct. though it is dated Aug. 26. 1861.

With much surprise I found that the newspaper statements were sustained by the text of your report.

I was surprised because if we did differ in opinion as to the measures and purposes of contemplated campaigns, such fact could have no appropriate place in the report of a battle, further because it seemed to be an attempt to exalt yourself at my expense, and especially because no such plan as that described was submitted to me. It is true that some time before it was ordered you expressed a desire for the junction of Genl. Johnston's army with your own. The movement was postponed until the operations of the enemy rendered it necessary, and until it became thereby practicable to make it with safety to the Valley of Virginia. Hence I believe was secured the success of which it was attained.

If you have retained a copy of the plan of Campaign which you say was submitted to me through Col. Chestnut allow me to request that you will furnish me with a duplicate of it. Very respectfully yours &c. Jeffer. Davis."

This letter is endorsed on the back: "The first blast of War," in the hand of Genl. Thos. Jordan, and he has added: "A week before this letter reached Genl. B. I had been told by H. D. Banks that it had been written, and its precise scope and tenor. Thomas Jordan."

1005 The Same. A. L. S. 8vo. Richmond, Nov. 9, 1861. To Genl. Beauregard.

"I have habitually neglected to keep copies of my letters and telegrams addressed to you, since you entered on duty with the army of the Potomac, desiring now to have them. I request that my friend C. D. Fontaine may be permitted to take such copies from the originals in your possession."

Endorsed on the back by Genl. Beauregard. Interrogatories from President Davis relative to retreat from Corinth, Richa June 14, 62.

1008 The Same. A. L. S. 8vo. Beauvoir, March 25, 1878. To Genl. Beauregard.

Asking Beauregard to recall the conference held between himself, Genl. Johnston and Beauregard the night after the Battle of Manassas, and to send him a copy of his order, dictated to Genl. Jordan, directing Genl. Bonham to follow the retreating enemy.

1009 The Same. A. L. S. 2 pages, 8vo. Beauvoir, April 1, 1878. To Genl. Beauregard.

Thanking Beauregard for the offer to loan him his papers relating to the War.

"Your generous offer to give me the use of your files of orders, and papers in connection with events of the late war is the more acceptable to me because of the loss of nearly all of my own copies and memorandums, and I will gratefully avail myself of your kindness. It behooves the actors in the events of the War to leave to the future historian data for the correct representation of our conduct in the effort to maintain our rights, and to preserve the constitution in the spirit with which our sires made it. To make such contributions is my object."

1010 The Same. A. L. S. 4 pages, 4to. Mississippi City, April 27, 1778. To Genl. Beauregard, with A. L. S. on the last page of Genl. Beauregard. New Orleans, April 30, 1878. To Genl. Thos. Jordan, asking him to read Mr. Davis' letter.

A fine historical letter, giving his recollections of the conference between Genl. Johnston, Genl. Beauregard and himself the night after the Battle of Manassas (Bull Run).

"I have the honor to acknowledge yours of the 24 h inst , with its inclosures in answer to my inquiry as to the Conference between Genl. Johnston, yourself and myself in the night after the battle of Manassas. I regret to find that my remembrance materially differs from yours. That you may distinctly understand in what the difference consists, I will make a brief statement of my recollections & with the hope that they may refresh yours and bring us into nearer accord. Without claiming infallibility for my memory, I do however claim that it is very distinct as to those events.

In the evening of that day being on the extreme left of your line of battle, I found a number of the troops who had recently arrived, and who therefore were in a fit condition for pursuit of the enemy, and as I thought, in a proper position from which to move far for that purpose. There was general complaint among them of hunger and want of provisions. I addressed several of the commands, stating to them the importance of remaining where they were, and promised that when I reached the Head-quarters, I would have rations sent to them. Night closed in immediately thereafter, and I rode back in the dark to your Head-quarters.

Upon inquiring for you, and hearing that you had not returned, from the field, I directed an officer of your Staff to have the promised rations sent out to the troops on the extreme left. Some time elapsed when, say about midnight, meeting you. I informed you of the order I had given, and then learned, that which proved to be a false alarm, had caused you to move the troops in question from the extreme left, to the right flank.

In the conference which followed with yourself and Genl. Johnston, my inquiry as to whether any troops had been sent out in pursuit of the enemy was answered in the negative, and upon further inquiry as to what troops would be most available for that purpose, you replied, Genl Bonham's Brigade, and to my answer, let Genl. Bonham's Brigade be sent, a pause ensued. After a time, your Adjt. Genl. Col. Thos. Jordan, who sat opposite to me, asked If I would dictate the order, which was done, in terms directing immediate pursuit. Some conversation followed regarding the hazard of the night march by a single Brigade, and I dictated a modification of the order, to the effect, that the movement should begin at early dawn. Col. Jordan looking across the table, towards me, said, I believe I remember his very words, 'If you will issue the order as it was first dictated, the enemy will not stop until they get into the Potomac.'

The deluging rain which commenced before daylight and the dispersion of the men in most of the commands, rendered it impracticable, during that day to do more than reassemble the commands, collect the spoils of the fugitive enemy, and with the Cavalry follow the lines of retreat, or perhaps beyond, the Fairfax Court House.

On the proximate night our conference was resumed, when the question of following of the enemy was presented by me. Adverse opinions prevailed, because of reported fortifications on the South side of the Potomac, with garrisons not demoralized, by the defeat of the army at Manassas, they not having been with it, and also because of the unwillingness of Genl. Johnston, under these circumstances, to attempt offensive operations, as is stated in the letter you enclosed to me, from your former Adjt. Genl. Jordan." &c.

1011 The Same. Copy of two Telegrams from President Davis to Genl. Beauregard. Richmond, Jan. 2 and Jan. 7th, 1865, in the hand of Genl. Beauregard.

GOV. HARRIS' LETTER ON THE DEATH OF GENL. ALBERT SIDNEY JOHNSTON.

1019 The Same. A. L. S. 4 pages, 4to. Memphis, April 13, 1876. To Genl. Beauregard.
An interesting and historical letter giving his recollections of the death of Genl. Albert Sidney Johnston on the battlefield of Shiloh. Harris was his volunteer aide.

"About an hour before his fall, Genl. Johnston moved around to about the centre of Genl. Breckenridge's Division upon our extreme right, and for about ¾ of an hour occupied a position immediately in front of Genl. Breckenridge's line, Where a very hard fight was going on. Exposed to a galling fire, our line held its position steadily, but at very considerable cost, Until finally Gen'l Johnston decided to order, and lead a charge from that position upon the line of the enemy that confronted us, He rode to the front, talked to the troops a moment or two, ordered, and lead the charge & The enemy's line gave away before us, and we advanced I should think ¾ of a mile, and established our line on a ridge parallel to the one we had left. Meeting a galling fire from the enemy, while thus reestablishing our line, Just as our line had been established and dressed, Genl. Johnston called my attention to the fact that the sole of one of his boots had been cut by a ball. I asked him somewhat eagerly, 'Are you wounded, did the ball touch your foot.' He said no, and was proceeding to make an additional remark, when a battery of the enemy opened fire from a position to our left which infiladed our line in its then position, When. he said to me, 'Order Col. Statham to wheel his regiment to the left, Charge and take that Battery.' I galloped immediately to Col. Statham, about 200 yards distant, and gave the order, and galloped immediately back to Genl. Johnston, who was sitting upon his horse where I had left him, a few feet in the rear of our line of battle. Riding up to his right side, I said, Genl. your order is delivered and Col. Statham is in motion, As I was saying this, he leaned from me in a manner that impressed me with the idea that he was falling from his horse. I instantly extended my left arm around his neck grasping his coat collar, & pulling him towards me until I righted him up on the saddle, and stooping forward so that I could look him in the face, asked him, 'Genl. are you wounded' He said, 'Yes, and I fear seriously' at this moment his rein dropped from his hand, holding him with my left. hand, I caught up his rein with my right in which I held my own, and guided both horses to a depression about 100 yards in the rear of the line. When I took him off his horse, having asked Capt. Wickham, just as I was leaving the line, to bring me a Surgeon at the earliest moment possible. I am satisfied that Genl. Johnston did not live exceeding 30 minutes after he was taken from his horse, I did not look at my watch, at the time, but my best impressiom is that it was 2½ or 3 o'clock P. M. When he died."

Asking for the removal from the City of Columbia the military organization composed of Union Prisoners who have taken the oath of allegiance to the Confederacy. A letter giving an insight to a little piece of forgotten history.

"I have before me two memorials from the Citizens of Columbia, asking that the Military organization known as the Foreign Legion & composed of those who were prisoners of war & have taken the oath of Allegiance to the Confederate States, which is now encamped within the limits of that city should be removed. * * * The grounds of the application are among others, set forth in the language of these Citizens, 'Our families are constantly annoyed by the members of this organization prowling about our premises, under the pretence of begging food, but as we sincerely believe with the purpose of pilfering or of committing even greater outrages. Our families are uneasy & alarmed & in constant dread of some outrage or indignity from this source. Armed as these men now are the City and its whole population lie entirely at their mercy, we believe they are dangerous & therefore pray for their removal.'"

1032 Manning, John L. Governor of South Carolina. A. L. S. 4 pages, 4to. Hornesley, Nov. 20, 1863. To Genl. Beauregard.

A long and interesting friendly letter. It seems Genl. Beauregard had requested the favor of making Genl. Manning's Son one of his Staff, but the Governor writes that his son is Volunteer Aide to Genl. Johnston, and for family and other reasons he could not wish to have him relinquish his present post, even for the honor Genl. Beauregard wished to bestow on him. He also gives some interesting family Revolutionary reminiscences.

1033 The Same. A. L. S. 2 pages, 4to. Hornesley, Feb. 7, 1864. To Genl. Beauregard.

"When will the Yankees allow you to come & see me? I kept a mutton for you a month & whatever else we have that looked like the-before-the-war luxeries. * * * I received cheering accounts from Genl. Johnston's Command. His popularity is doing the same thing for his army, that yours has often done for that under your Command, viz. to remedy the follies and Stupidity of the Richmond Government. When will all that crime of prejudice and imbecility cease?"

1034 Mallory, Stephen R. Secretary of the Navy. L. S. 2 pages, 4to. Navy Department, Richmond, Dec. 24, 1864. To President Jefferson Davis, with autograph endorsement, signed, by Jefferson Davis, on the back.

Asking the return to the government works at Columbus, Ga., the Naval Battalion, composed of mechanics from those works, which had been ordered to the field on Sherman's approach on Macon.

"The hull of the new iron clad built for the waters of Apalachicola Bay, and designed to keep that port open for trade, is completed and partly ironed, and the Sloop Chattachoochee and a small torpedo steamer, designed to operate with her, are equally advanced, The removal of these mechanics has put a stop to the work." President Davis orders their return.

1035 Moore, Thomas O. War Governor of Louisiana. L. S. 2 pages, 4to. New Orleans, March 8, 1862. To Genl. Beauregard.

In reference to furnishing troops from Louisiana.

"But for the lack of Arms I could furnish a large force to you. The war spirit is very active all over the state, having extended to the lower parishes, where until very recently it was quite quiescent. Your name & well earned reputation, I have no doubt has materially contributed to rouse the enthusiasm of our people, We place great confidence in you, & when assured of your having the re-inforcements asked for, feel convinced that the alarm which has prevailed here since the Capitulation of our forces at Donelson, will be greatly abated."

Thanking Beauregard for a map of the Battle field of Manassas.

"I am deeply obliged to you for the full and distinct map of our recent glorious battle of Manassas Plain, I am not only gratified with it as a distinct representation of all the movements, but because it indicates that you still can remember your old acquaintance even amid the scenes of your recent brilliant exploits. I trust my dear General, that it is all still but indicative of a higher career yet in reserve for you. I was also gratified that you sent the map by Colonel Chisolm, one of my Aids, whom you selected to attend you on the battle field, and that he proved himself worthy of the selection, as is evidenced by the high trusts and appointments which you have procured for him."

PROCLAMATIONS, SPECIAL ORDERS, &c. Issued during the War.

BEAUREGARD'S NOTED "BEAUTY AND BOOTY" PROCLAMATION.

1093 Beauregard, P. G. T. General. D. S. 2 pages, 4to (1861). "A Proclamation to the good people of the Counties of Alexandria, Londoun, Fairfax and Prince William." Signed by Beauregard as Brig.-Genl. Commanding.

"A reckless and unprincipaled tyrant has invaded your soil. Abraham Lincoln, regardless of all moral, legal and constitutional restraints has thrown his abolition hosts among you, who are murdering and imprisoning your citizens—confiscating and destroying your property and committing other acts of violence and outrage too shocking and revolting to humanity to be enumerated. All rules of civilized warfare are abandoned and they proclaim by their acts, if not on their banners, that their war cry is, "Beauty and Booty." All that is dear to man,—your honor and that of your wives and daughters—your fortunes and your lives are involved in this momentous contest.

In the name therefore of the Constituted Authorities of the other Confederate States—in the sacred cause of Constitutional Liberty and Self Government for which we are contending,—in behalf of civilization and humanity itself, I, G. T. Beauregard Brigadier General of the Confederate States commanding at Camp Parker, Manassas Junction, do make this my Proclamation, and invite and enjoin you by every consideration dear to the hearts of freemen and patriots,—by the name and memory of your Revolutionary fathers and by the purity and sanctity of your domestic firesides,—to rally to the standard of your State and country, and by every means in your power, compatible with honourable warfare, to drive back and expel the invaders from your land. I conjure you to be true and loyal to your country and for legal, constitutional authorities and especially to be vigilant of the movements and acts of the enemy so as to enable you to give the earliest authentic information at these Head Quarters or to the officers under my command. I desire to assure you that the utmost protection in my power be extended to you all."

1094 The Same. A. D. S. 3 pages, 4to, and 2 pages, 8vo. Paris, July 18, 1866.

"Conditions for accepting the position of General in Chief of the force of the Danubian Principalities."

This is Genl. Beauregard's Autograph draft of the conditions upon which he would accept the command of the forces of the Danubian Principalities, and in which he insists that he shall be allowed to introduce into the military service of the Principalities officers of the late Confederate States of America. A list of the number and rank of such officers accompanies the document.

1095 Petition of the Officers of the 8th Texas Cavalry, Jan. 27, 1865, to the Secretary of War, Signed, by the Officers of the Regiment, and which was forwarded to the Commanding Genl. (Beauregard) for action, with Autograph Military endorsements, Signed, by Brig.-Genl. Thos. Harrison, Lieut.-Genl. Jos. Wheeler, Lieut.-Genl. W. J. Hardee, General G. T. Beauregard, Lieut.-Genl. Wade Hampton, recommending the granting of the petition. A. L. S. 8vo, of Lieut.-Genl. Wade Hampton, March 1st, 1865, in reference to the petition. And A. L. S. 3 pages, 8vo, of Brig.-Genl. Louis T. Wigfall. Richmond, Feb. 12, 1865. Also referring to the petition as a lot.

An interesting collection of papers in reference to one of the most noted regiments of cavalry, commanded by Genl. Jos. Wheeler, and which had been in constant service for four years.

1096 Statement relative to a conference held with President Davis at Fairfax C. H. about the end of September, 1861, relative to putting the Army of the Potomac in a condition to take the offensive. Written at Centreville, Va., Jan. 31, 1862, and Signed by Genl. Gustavus W. Smith, Genl. G. T. Beauregard and Genl. Joseph E. Johnston. 7 pages, 4to.

A highly important historical document, giving the reason why the Confederate Army was unable to follow up the victory at Bull Run, and pursue and attack the enemy in their own country, with a view to capturing Washington. The statement is that of Genl. Gustavus W. Smith, who in these pages gives his recollections of this occurrence, and before signing it Genl. Beauregard has written:

"My recollection of the above conference agrees fully with the statement of Genl. G. W. Smith," and which Genl. Jos. E. Johnston fully agrees by signing it also.

1097 A Copy of the above Statement. 9 pages, 4to. All in the hand and signed by Genl. Gustavus W. Smith. Centreville, Va., Jan. 31, 1862.

ORDER OF THE BATTLE OF SHILOH.

1098 Beauregard's Order of the Battle of Shiloh. Original Manuscript of Special Order No. 8. Head Quarters, Army of the Mississippi, Corinth, Miss., April 3, 1862. Signed by Brig.-Genl. Thos. Jordan as A. Adj't Genl. of Genl. Beauregard's Staff.

This highly important document gives the order of what was one of the most important battles in the war, and where the brave Genl. Albert Sidney Johnston lost his life, a mishap, which no doubt lost to the Confederacy their greatest opportunity during the war, of defeating Genl. Grant, who was nigh the verge of surrendering when the great mishap occurred, placing the command on others, who changed Genl. Johnston's plan, and history narrates the result. At the bottom of the document Genl. Thos. Jordan has written and signed:

"Corinth, Miss., April 18, 1862.

The foregoing plan of operations and Order of Engagements were drawn up, and submitted by Genl. Beauregard, and on the morning of the 3.rd of April 1862 to Genl. A. S. Johnston who accepted the same without modification in a single particular.

Thomas Jordan, Brig. Genl. & A. A. G."

1099 Beauregard. A letter from Miss Ella C. Brown, 2 pages, 8vo. Dec. 23, 1861. To Genl. Beauregard. Presenting him with a "Comfort" and with Genl. Beauregard's Autograph answers, Signed. Centreville, Jan. 2, 1862, on the same sheet, returning thanks for the same. And a letter from Miss A. G. Evans, of Mobile, Jan. 19, 1862. Presenting Gen. Beauregard with a Bouquet of flowers.

1100 Brent, Geo. W. Colonel and A. A. Gen., General Beauregard's Staff. Manuscript, Signed, 11 pages, 4to. Being a "Journal kept at Head Quarters, Military Division of the West, Montgomery, Ala., from Dec. 8 to 19, 1864." Endorsed in the hand of Genl. Beauregard. "Important."

1101 Gerard. Lieut.-Col. of the Louisiana Volunteers. A.L.S. 4 pages, 8vo. September, 1861. To Genl. Beauregard.

Plan communicated to Genl. Beauregard for the purpose of mobilizing the Armies of the Confederacy.

GENL'S JOHNSTON AND BEAUREGARD'S ADDRESS TO THE ARMY AFTER THE BATTLE OF BULL RUN.

1102 Johnston and Beauregard's Address to the Army of the Potomac. D. S. 3 pages, folio. Head Quarters, Army of the Potomac. Manassas, July 25, 1861. Signed by Genl. G. T. Beauregard and Genl. Jos. E Johnston SEE FACSIMILE.

This is the original manuscript of Genls. Johnston and Beauregard's Address to their army immediately after the victory of Manassas (Bull Run). We quote it in full:

"Soldiers of the Confederate States.

One week ago a countless host of men organized into an army with all the appointments which modern art and practical skill could devise, invaded the soil of Virginia. Their people sounded their approach with triumphant display of anticipated victory, and their Generals came in almost royal state—their great Ministers, Senators, and women came to witness the immolation of this army, and the subjugation of our people, and to celebrate with wild revelry.

It is with the profoundest emotions of gratitude to an over-ruling God, whose hand is manifest in protecting our homes and our liberties, that we your Generals Commanding, are enabled, in the name of our whole country, to thank you for that patriotic courage, that heroic gallantry, that devoted daring exhibited by you in the actions of the 18th and 21st July, by which the hosts of the enemy were scattered, and a signal and glorious victory achieved;

The two affairs of the 18th and 21st were but the sustained and continued effort of your patriotism against the constantly recurring columns of an enemy fully treble your numbers, and this effort was crowned on the evening of the 21st with a victory so complete that the invaders were driven disgracefully from the field, and made to fly in disorderly rout back to their entrenchments, a distance of over thirty miles.

They left upon the field nearly every piece of their Artillery, a a large portion of their Arms, Equipments, baggage, stores, &c., &c., and almost every one of them wounded and dead, amounting, together with the prisoners, to many thousands, and thus the Northern hosts were driven by you from Virginia.

Soldiers! we congratulate you on an event which insures the liberty of our country. We congratulate every man of you whose glorious privilege it was to participate in this triumph of Courage and Truth—to fight in the battle of Manassas.

You have created an epoch in the history of Liberty—an unborn nation will rise up and call you 'blessed.'

Continue this noble devotion, looking always to the protection of a just God; and before Time grows much older we will be hailed as the Deliverers of a nation of Ten Millions of people.

Comrades, our brothers who have fallen, have earned undying renown on earth, and their blood shed in our holy cause is a precious and acceptable sacrifice to the Father of Truth and Right. Their graves are beside the Tomb of Washington, their spirits have joined his in eternal communion. We will hold the soil in which the dust of Washington is mingled with the dust of our brothers. We drop our tears on their laurels and move forward to avenge them.

Soldiers, we congratulate you on a glorious triumphant and Complete Victory. We thank you for doing your whole duty in the service of your country.

THE TRUCE BETWEEN GENL. JOS. E. JOHNSTON AND GENL. WM. T. SHERMAN.

1103 Johnston-Sherman. Synopis of the Agreement between Generals Johnston and Sherman. On the top Genl. Beauregard has written "Confidential—Near Hillsboro April 18-1862." Accompanied with an A. L. S. of Genl. Jos. E. Johnston. 2 pages, 8vo. Baltimore, March 30, 1868. Containing a copy of his letter to Genl. Sherman in reference to the Surrender.

This is a rough draft of the agreement drawn up by Genl. Joseph E. Johnston and Genl. Wm. T. Sherman, under which the former was willing to surrender his Army, providing the Confederate and Union Authorities concurred. It was submitted by Sherman to the Authorities at Washington, who disapproved of it, and ordered Sherman to commence hostilities at once, and Halleck, through the duplicity of Secretary Stanton, disregarded Sherman's truce and marched against Johnston's Army, and in the district commanded by Sherman, which caused a violent rupture between those two Union Generals, as Sherman had signed a "Safe-guard" with Johnston, the sacredness of which both Halleck and Stanton were aware of, and the breaking of which Sherman rightfully upheld to be the most abhorrent act a soldier could commit.

We quote Genl. Johnston's letter.

"After the conversation with the gentleman referred to in my letter, was no other than Mr. Stevens. I thought that it would be well to have on record a statement some what more circumstantial than the one you formerly concurred in. I enclose that one that you may see that this new one differs from it only in being fuller, especially in the reasons upon which terminating the war was agreed. As evidence in this matter I subjoin a copy of the letter to Sherman. When he and I met and I stated our object, he refused to recognize Mr. Davis in any way, or transmit any thing from him to tne U. S. Government. Upon that I opened negociations myself." His letter to Sherman is as follows: "H^{d} Qrs. in the field April 13th 1865. Major Genl. W. T. Sherman, Com^{g} U. S. Forces. General, The results of the recent Campaigns in Virginia have changed the military condition of the belligerents, I am therefore induced to address you, in this form, the inquiry whether, in order to stop the further effusion of blood and devastation of property, you are willing to make a temporary suspension of active operations and to communicate to Lieut. Gen'l Grant, Commanding the Armies of the U. S., the request that he will take like action in regard to other armies, the object being to permit the civil authorities to enter into the needful arrangements to terminate the existing war. I have the honor to be," &c.

1104 Lee, Robert E. Commander in Chief of the Confederate States Army. L. S. 2 pages, 4to. Head Qrs. Armies C. S., Feb. 23, 1865. To Genl. Beauregard, with Official Copy, Signed, by Col. Taylor, of Special Order No. 3, Assigning Genl. Jos. E. Johnston to the Command of the Department of Tennessee and Georgia and Department of South Carolina, Georgia and Florida. As a lot.

1105 The Same. A Copy of Genl. Lee's Order, of April 10th, 1865. Issued by Col. C. S. Venable, by order of Genl. Lee. 4to.

"All Officers and men of the Confederate service paroled at Appomattox C. H. Va. who, to reach their homes, are compelled to pass through the lines of the Union Armies will be allowed to do so, and to pass free on all Government transports and Military Railroads. By order of Lt.-Genl. Grant."

1106 Liddell, St John R. Brig.-Genl. Military endorsement on "List of Absent Officers from Armistead's Brigade of Cavalry, Dec. 28, 1864." Signed by Col. C. G. Armistead, and also with Military endorsement of Maj.-Genl. R. Taylor. Folio, torn in the folds.

1107 Preston, Jno. S. Brig.-General. A. L. S. 2 pages, 8vo. Richmond, Sept. 20, 1861. To Genl. Beauregard.

Recommending Dr. McCormick as a physician and gentleman of the highest repute.

1108 Slidell, John Confederate Commissioner to France. A. L. S. 8vo. Richmond, Sept. 19 and 26, 1861. To Genl. Beauregard. 2 pieces

GENL. WALKER'S LITTLE DAUGHTER SENDS A DESIGN FOR A CONFEDERATE FLAG.

1109 Walker, Leroy P. Brig.-Genl. and Secretary of War. A. L. S. 2 pages, 8vo. Richmond, Sept. 14, 1861. And A. L. S. of his little daughter, Matilda Pope Walker. Of the same date. To Genl. Beauregard. As a lot. 2 pieces

Secretary Walker's letter is as follows, and gives notice of his resignation as Secretary of War:

"The enclosed note from my little daughter was written by her without suggestion or alteration in any way, and the design for a flag is entirely her own conception. She has insisted so strongly on sending it to you that I did not feel at liberty to refuse her. I consent the more readily because I am sure you will appreciate it in the spirit in which it is sent. She signs herself with the usual vanity of her sex 'daughter of the Secretary of War' and thus gives me the opportunity to say that my official connection with the Army is about to terminate, having tendered my resignation to the President a few days since. What I have done in this office has been honorably done, and when the history of the war is written, I feel that the laggard justice of popular approval will be bestowed." The daughter's letter is as follows, but unfortunately the design of the flag is missing. "I send you a design entirely my own for a Confederate flag. I have never been satisfied with the Confederate flag because it is too much like that of the United States. I am a little girl nine years old and though I have never seen you I feel as though I knew you. Your admirer, Matilda Pope Walker, Daughter of the Secretary of War."

1110 York, Zebulon. Brig.-General. A. L. S. 2 pages, 8vo. Richmond, Sept. 3, 1861. To Genl. Beauregard.

Asking Beauregard for arms for his regiment, and to allow them to join the army at Manassas.

UNION GENERALS.

1111 Barnard, John G. Brig.-General. A. L. S. 3 pages 8vo. May 30, 1861. To Major G. T. Beauregard.

Expressing his surprise at Beauregard being relieved from duty at West Point, and gives his ideas on Secession.

"I hardly know how to close this. You have been my companion & friend for these 20 years and——I cannot look to see you side by side with W. H.—— nor Danville Leadbetter. Looking upon 'Secession' as damnable a crime, a blunder which none but fools and madmen would have been guilty of. * * * Don't go back to La. & repeat the silly calumnies that the Northern people hate the Southern, for its a lie! There are fools among us, as there are among you, plenty on both sides."

1112 The Same. A. L. S. 4 pages, 8vo. New York, March 11, 1861. To Major G. T. Beauregard.

In answer to a letter from Beauregard, informing him that he had accepted a command under the Confederate States. For this he censures Beauregard in no light terms, and ends the letter with this powerful appeal:

"But I cannot overlook that you are now in arms against my country (might I not with propriety say too, your country) that in the midst of the waters whose shores are now bustling with armed men, waves a flag which is the emblem of all that is glorious & patriotic, to you, as well as to me. It is that flag which waved over your head while you—an—of your country—were making that professional preparation to serve that country, which has enabled you to achieve that reputation which you hence enjoyed. It is the flag which waved over those works in your native State which you were employed by your Government to build. It is the flag which waved over your head when at Vera Cruz, * * * at Mexico, you conferred lustre upon it & gained glory for yourself, and, Alas! it is the flag against which these 'armed men' of which you are now the leader, are erecting hostile batteries, and which,——but a few weeks since, they fired upon. If therefore I still entertain kind personal regards for yourself,—and God forbid that I should ever have occasion to do otherwise, or if I recieve them, or communicate them, it must be with a full understanding of how I regard your position. I cannot congratulate you on your new title, nor can I use it. I prefer to use that one which you once felt to be an honor, and which you honored." It will be noticed that the letter is addressed to Major G. T. Beauregard.

1113 The Same. A Series of A. L. S. 8vo and 4to (including 1 L. S.) from 1870 to 1879. To Genl. Beauregard. 13 pieces

In reference to engineering prospects, canal building, jetties, &c., in which he and Beauregard were engaged.

1114 Butler, Benj. F. Brig.-General. L. S 2 pages, 4to. Boston, June 2, 1873. To Blanton Duncan. Damaged on lower margin.

Giving an account of how he favored Genl. Beauregard's wife by releasing money which was in Beauregard's name, after all monies belonging to Confederate Officers in New Orleans had been confiscated.

1115 Crawford, Samuel W. Brig.-General. A. L. S. 3 pages, 8vo. Washington, April 8, 1885.

Asking for negatives taken at Fort Sumter at the time of the Bombardment.

1116 The Same. A Series of A. L. S. 4to or 8vo, during the year 1869. To Genl. Beauregard. 5 pieces

A series of long and interesting letters relative to the Bombardment and Surrender of Fort Sumter, of which Genl. Crawford was writing a history.

1117 Fitz-Gibbon, Thos. C. Major. A. L. S. folio. Wayside Hospital, Charlotte, March 2, 1865. To Genl. Beauregard, with A. L. S. 4to, Charlotte, March 2, 1865, of Surgeon Jno. W. Ashby, C. S. A. 2 pieces

Requests permission to pass through the Confederate lines, to go to Washington, to have his wounded leg attended to. Dr. Ashby attests that it would endanger his life to make the journey.

1118 Gillmore, Q. A. Brig.-Genl. Official Copies of two Letters. Morris Island, Aug. 21 and Aug. 22, 1863. To Genl. Beauregard.

These are official copies, attested to by Col. H. W. Fielden of Genl. Gillmore's noted and inhuman letters demanding the evacuation of Morris Island and Fort Sumter, with a threat of bombarding the City of Charleston for non-compliance.

1119 Hazen, Wm. B. Major-General. L. S. 2 pages, 4to. Washington, Aug. 10, 1886. To Genl. Beauregard.

In reference to his book about the Battle of Shiloh, &c.

1120 The Same. A. L. S. 8vo. Washington, Nov. 9, 1886.

1121 McDowell, Irvin. Brig.-General. A. L. S. in the third person, "General McDowell," 2 pages, 4to. Head Quarters, Arlington, July 9, 1861. To Genl. Beauregard.

Relative to bearer of dispatches (Col. Thos. H. Taylor) from President Davis to Abraham Lincoln, referring to prisoners of privateers condemned to death.

1122 Preble, Geo H. Commodore. A. L. S. 8vo. Boston, Feb. 6, 1872, and Washington, Feb. 23, 1872. 2 pieces

In reference to the History of the Southern Battle Flag.

1123 Sherman, Wm. Tecumseh. Major-General. A. L. S. 3 pages, 4to. In the Field, Military Division of the Mississippi, Feb. 22, 1865. To Genl. Wade Hampton, with an Official Copy of Genl. Wade Hampton's Reply.

In reference to the Confederates killing his foragers and his intended reprisal.

"It is officially reported to me that our foraging parties are murdered after Capture and labelled 'Death to all Foragers.' An instance of a Lieut. and seven men near Chesterville, and another of twenty 'near a Ravine 80 rods from the main Road' about three miles from Feasterville. I have ordered a similar number of prisoners in our hands to be disposed of in a like manner.

I hold about 1000 of prisoners captured in various ways, and can stand it as long as you, but I hardly think these murders are committed with your Knowledge, and would suggest that you give notice to the People at large that every life taken by them simply results in the death of one of your Confederates. Of course you cannot question my right to forage in the Country. It is a known right as old as History. The manner of exercising, it varies with Circumstances, and if the Civil Authorities will supply my Requisitions I will forbid all foraging. But I find no Civil Authorities who can respond to Calls for forage or provisions, and therefore must collect directly of the People. I have no doubt this is the occasion of much misbehaviour on the part of our men, but I cannot permit an Enemy to judge, or punish with wholesale murder.

Personally I regret the bitter feelings engendered by the war, but they were to be expected, and I simply allign that those who struck the first blow, and made war unevitable, ought not in fairness to re-reproach us for the natural consequences. I merely assert our War Rights to Forage, and my resolve to protect my foragers to the extent of Life for Life."

In the copy (here included) of Genl. Wade Hampton, to the above letter, he says: "I beg to assure you, that for every soldier of mine 'murdered' by you, I shall have executed at once two of yours, giving in all cases preferance to any officers who may be in my hands." He then accuses Sherman's foragers of ravishing the women of the country, plundering the residents, and other outrages, but denies all knowledge of any of the foragers being put to death.

1124 The Same. A Letter from him in another hand, 2 pages, 4to. Lancaster, Ohio, Aug. 1, 1865. To Genl. Beauregard. Endorsed on the back in the hand of Genl. Beauregard. "Genl. W. Sherman relative to returning effects of Genl. Beauregard taken in Ga. after the Surrender of C. S. forces."

1125 Stone, Chas. P. Brig.-General. L. S. 3 pages, 4to. Head Qrs. Poolesville, Dec. 17, 1861. To Genl. D. H. Hill.

Relative to certain prisoners taken while marauding. Also an extract from a letter of Genl. McClellan on the subject.

1126 Weitzel, Godfrey. Major-General. A. L. S. 3 pages, 4to. Columbian Armory, Washington, Feb. 13, 1861. To Genl. Beauregard.

A friendly letter solicitous of Gent. Beauregard's welfare.

"Can't we devise some means to kill off all these politicians? This will restore peace and harmony to the country. * * * Abraham Lincoln started for this place yesterday accompanied by his son Bob, whom the Western people have dubbed 'The Prince of Rails.'"

"Arise gallant Georgians! Your Champion has come!
Unfurl your proud banners, beat loudly the drum!
To victory advance, for he knows not defeat,
Your General will never, no never, retreat.

Upon our fair borders the ruthless foe stands,
Already has wasted our homes, and our lands,
But Georgians! march forward! our rescue is near,
For the brave Beauregard, welcome Hero, is here."

GENL. BUTLER'S NOTORIOUS ORDER No. 28 ABOUT THE WOMEN OF NEW ORLEANS.

¶150 Printed General Order No. 44. Head Quarters, Western Department, Corinth, Miss., May 19, 1862, issued by Genl. G. T. Beauregard, embracing a copy of Genl. Butler's Notorious Order No. 28.

"Head Quarters Department of the Gulf, New Orleans, May 15, 1862. General Order No. 28.

As the officers and soldiers of the United States have been subject to repeated insults from the women (calling themselves ladies) of New Orleans, in return for the most scrupulous non-interference and courtesy on our part, it is ordered that hereafter when any female shall, by word, gesture, or movement, insult or show contempt for any officer or soldier of the United States, she shall be regarded and held liable to be treated as a woman of the town plying her avocation. By Command of Major General Butler. George C. Strong, A. A. G. Chief of Staff."

Beauregard printed this for the information of the Army, and ordered it to be read on dress parade. His address to the Army is as follows:

"Men of the South! shall our mothers, our wives, our daughters and our sisters, be thus outraged by the ruffianly soldier of the North, to whom is given the right to treat, at their pleasure, the ladies of the South as common harlots? Arouse friends, and drive back from our soil, these infamous invaders of our homes and disturbers of our family ties." This copy is signed in the Autograph of Col. Jno. M. Otey of Beauregard's Staff.

SEE FACSIMILE.

¶151 Lines suggested by General Beauregard's Address, directing the attention of his Army to Genl. Butler's infamous proclamation in New Orleans, by L. Q. Moore, 3 pages, folio. Signed with initials.

Genl. Beauregard has written in pencil: "Tuscumbia June, 1862, Wife of Judge Jno. E. Moore of Tuscumbia, Ala." It is accompanied with a printed contemporary copy of the Poem of Paul H. Hayne on the same subject.

¶152 Confidential Letter (in French). 8 pages, 4to. To Genl. Beauregard, dated Washington, Oct. 27, 1861, relative to the condition of Washington and that of the country North.

¶153 Boulanger. Celebrated French General during the Franco-Prussian War. A. L. S. 2 pages, 8vo. Paris, Dec. 20, 1867. To Genl. Beauregard.

1154 The Same. A. L. S. 3 pages, 8vo. Paris, Jan. 27, 1867. To Genl. Beauregard.

1155 Diaz, Porfirio. President of Mexico. L. S. folio. Mexico, April 28, 1885. To Genl. Beauregard.

1156 Evans, Augusta J. A. Popular Southern Novelist. A. L. S. 7 pages, 8vo. Mobile, Aug. 4, 1862. To Genl. Beauregard.

A long letter, thanking Genl. Beauregard for a gift of his writing pen to her, and teeming with solicitation for the welfare of the Army.

"I was sitting beside a sick soldier, who was entirely delirious with fever, suddenly opening his eyes, he grasped my hand, and asked eagerly 'did you say General Beauregard was on Arlington Heights?' I answered 'be quiet, go to sleep, he will be there very soon.'"

1157 The Same. A. L. S. 8vo. Mobile, May 12, 1863. To Genl. Beauregard.

1158 The Same. A. L. S. 4 pages, 8vo. Mobile, April 18, 1863. To Genl. Beauregard.

Congratulating Genl. Beauregard on his brilliant victory in the defence of Charleston.

1159 The Same. A. L. S. 4 pages, 8vo. Mobile, April 29, 1863. To Genl. Beauregard.

Commenting upon the failure of the campaign in Kentucky "which resulted so disastriously through the rejection of your plan of Operations."

1160 The Same. A. L. S. 8vo. Mobile, Sept. 23, 1862. To Genl. Beauregard.

1161 The Same. A. L. S. 6 pages, 4to. Mobile, Jan. 14, 1863. To Genl. Beauregard.

Regretting that President Davis discarded Genl. Beauregard's plan of Campaign. Speaks of the insubordination in the Army, and has this to say of the emancipation proclamation:

"Do you not hail the appearance of Lincoln's infamous proclamation as auspicious for our cause? The gauntlet has at last been thrown down by the Radical to the pseudo-conservative party, and the hour has arrived, in which to test the sincerity of Northern paeans to the Constitution. Can history furnish any parallel for this stupendous stultification?"

1162 The Same. A. L. S. 4 pages, 4to. Mobile, March 17, 1863. To Genl. Beauregard.

Expressing her disapproval of the actions of the President in his unjust treatment of Genl. Beauregard and Genl. Price, in removing the former from the command of Department No. 2. She also asks several questions about the Battle of Manassas, as she wishes to get correct information to incorporate in a novel she is writing, in which one of her "characters" was killed.

1163 The Same. A. L S. 8 pages, 8vo. Mobile, Jan. 30, 1864. To Genl. Beauregard.

A red hot secret letter, denouncing the President and Government at Richmond for their imbecility, and handling President Lincoln with ungloved hands.

"Should Davisonian obstinancy and obtuseness induce its rejection, (Beauregard's Plan of Campaign) I feel that I shall almost despair of our independence, shall learn to contemplate the ruin of my beloved country, and my own future, as a homeless exile in foreign lands, for so help me Heaven! Lincoln's banner will never float over my head."

1164 The Same. A. L. S. 10 pages, 8vo. Mobile, March 30 (1867). To Genl. Beauregard.

A long and interesting letter, reviewing the results of the war and its effect upon the social as well as political condition of the people, and she has this to say of New Yorkers:

"Business with my publisher called me recently to New York, and while there, I looked closely at the strange social phases that confronted me. The men are effeminate, selfish, most unscrupulously grasping, and utterly devoid of national pride, or disinterested patriotism. The women are masculine, Amazonian, 'strong minded' (?), imbued with heinous heresies, both social and religious. The children—heaven help them! are not children—but miniature women of fashion and progress,—and pitiable Manikins already chanting paeans to the Golden Calf."

1165 The Same. A. L. S. 7 pages, 8vo. Mobile, Nov. 20, 1867. To Genl. Beauregard.

A long and interesting letter, reflecting on and mourning the loss of the Confederacy, and asking what she shall do with Beauregard's notes on the war in her possession, and suggesting that they be turned over to Mr. Stephens for his use.

1166 Farragut and New Orleans. Contemporary Copies of Admiral Farragut's demand to the Mayor of New Orleans for the surrender of the City, April 27, 1862, with a contemporary copy of Mayor Jno. T. Monroe's, of New Orleans. Answer. 2 pieces Interesting historical document. It is quite probable the originals have been destroyed.

1167 Gayarré, Charles. Historian of Louisiana. A Series of A. L. S. 8vo or 4to. 1879–1886. To Genl. Beauregard. (3 in French, 2 in English). 5 pieces

1168 Hayne, Paul H. The Poet of the South. Autograph Poem signed, of 10 verses (3 pages 8vo), entitled "Beauregard's Appeal."

"Wherever our Duty leads us,
The grace of God is there,
And the lurid shrines of War may hold
The Eucharist of prayer!"

1169 The Same. A. L. S. 4to. Winsboro, S. C., May 5, 1863. To Genl. Beauregard.

Asking the acceptance of a copy of Poems dedicated to Genls. Beauregard and Riply, written on the "Battle of Charleston Harbor" as a tribute of admiration.

1170 Pollard, Edward A. Historian. A. L. S. 2 pages, 8vo. New York, Nov. 1, 1868. To Genl. Beauregard.

Mentions that he is composing a Biography of Jefferson Davis.

1171 Pierce, Franklin. President of the United States. A. L. S. 3 pages, 8vo. Concord, March 26, 1861. To Genl. Beauregard.

Introducing Wm. Appleton and Wm. Amory of Boston and asking Beauregard's kind attention and courtesy.

1172 Sherman, William Tecumseh. Major General in the Union Army. A copy of his letter dated in the Field, near Savannah, Ga., Dec. 17, 1864, to Lieut.-Genl. W. J. Hardee, C. S. A., and copy of Genl. Hardee's Answer. Savannah, Ga., Dec. 17, 1864. 2 pieces

These are official contemporary Copies attested to by Col. H. W. Feilden. Sherman's letter demands the Surrender of Savannah and its dependent Forts, and he threatens, in the event of a refusal, a resort to harsher measures. Genl. Hardee's letter carries a firm refusal to surrender, and deprecates Sherman's threat to employ harsh measures, should he not surrender.

1173 White, Richard Grant. Shakespearian Commentator. A. L. S. 2 pages 8vo. New York, Sept. 23, 1867. To Genl. Beauregard.

Offering to present him with a book which formerly belonged to Pierre Toutant.

1174 Cyphers. Telegraphic Cypher used at Charleston, Oct. 15, 1862, with explanation. Diplomatic Cypher, Charleston, Dec. 18, 1862, with explanation. A 40-word Cypher, with Explanation and Cypher Table. 4 pieces Invaluable in translating cypher letters and telegrams of the Confederacy.

ORIGINAL WAR TELEGRAMS RECEIVED AND SENT BY GENERAL BEAUREGARD.

These are in most instances the original telegrams received by General Beauregard from the various Generals commanding in his department from the commencement to the end of the war. They contain much vital information as to the movements of the Confederate troops, as well of those of the Federal Army. In fact they are the finger-posts pointing to the locations of the many great battles fought; and are among the most dependable assets of the war for historical use.

1175 Beauregard, Gen. P. G. T. Autograph Draft of a Telegram, Signed. Small 4to. Centreville, Dec. 28, 1861. To Gov. Pickens.

"Greatly obliged. He Has gone to Charleston. I will write to him. Yankees cannot take Charleston, will rob Cotton, Negroes and Chickens."

1176 The Same. Autograph Draft of a Telegram in pencil, Signed with initials. Pocotaligo, S. C., Dec. 25, 1864. To Gen. Bragg.

"You must have misunderstood Genl. Wheeler, he reported his smallest estimate of Sherman's forces when they left Atlanta at 40,000 Infantry & Artillery & 5,000 Cavalry."

1177 The Same. Autograph Draft of a Military Telegram in pencil, signed with initials. Small 4to. Pocotaligo, S. C., Dec. 21, 1864. To President Davis.

"General Hardee reports today from Hardeeville that Evacuation of Savannah as instructed by me was successfully accomplished last night, all the light Artillery & most of the stores & ammunition were brought off, the heavy guns were spiked & otherwise disabled; Line of defence behind Combahie river will be taken soon as practicable."

1178 The Same. Autograph Draft of a Military Telegram in pencil, signed. 8vo. Meridian, Miss., Jan. 20, 1865. To Genl. Hardee, at Charleston.

"I am en route with about 10,000 effectives to reinforce you, hold Sherman in Check as long as possible. Keep my Hd.-Qrs. full advised in cypher of your condition."

1179 The Same. Draft of a Military Telegram in pencil. Small 4to. Greensboro, April 15, 1865. To Gov. Z. B. Vance.

"President Davis left this afternoon on horse back for Salisbury. He regretted not having seen you."

1180 The Same. Draft of a Military Telegram, signed in pencil. 8vo. Greensboro, April 26, 1865. To Genl. L. L. Lomax.

"General Johnston who is now on his way to confer with General Sherman in advance of Hillsboro, directs as follows. Notify Commander of Sixth Corps (Federal) who camped last night 18 miles from Danville that truce has been resumed between General Sherman and himself."

1181 The Same. Autograph Draft of a Military Telegram, signed. Small 4to. Manassas, Aug. 1st 1861. To Col. A. C. Meyers.

"Several of my Brigades are entirely destitute of transportation, no advance can be made until procured. Can you not send me about 100 waggons."

1182 The Same. Autograph Draft of a Military Telegram, signed in pencil. Near Petersburg, July 7, 1864. To Genl. R. E. Lee.

Informing him that Savannah will probably be evacuated that night.

1184 The Same. Autograph Draft in pencil, signed, of a Military Telegram. 8vo. Pocotaligo, Dec. 20, 1864. To Commodore Hunter.

Informing that it is necessary for him to command the Savannah River with his gun-boats as long as possible.

1185 The Same. Autograph Draft, signed, of a Military Telegram. 4to. Charleston, S. C., Dec. 25, 1864. To Genl. Howell Cobb.

Informing him that the enemy should be driven from Dalton if possible.

1186 The Same. Autograph Draft, signed in pencil, of a Military Telegram. 4to. Mobile, Jan. 20, 1865. To President Davis.

Relative to the plans of the enemy.

"Present appearance indicate following early plans of Campaign on part of the Enemy,—Thomas from Middle Tenn. will move via Eastport, Tuscumbia or Decatur into North Ala. on Selma or Montgomery.—Canby will move via Pascagoula, Mobile or Pensacola to form a junction with Thomas. They will then probably march on Columbus & Macon. Genl. Taylor will have (to oppose these two Armies) only Stewart's Corps about 5.000 men, Mobile Garrison about same, Forrest & other troops about 10.000 more. Unless Kirby Smith is compelled to reinforce Taylor, or to attack St. Louis, or New Orleans, it will be impossible to defend successfully the States of Miss. & Ala."

1365 The Same. Military Telegram. Camp Moore, April 27, 1862. To Genl. Beauregard.

"Enemy has nothing but Ships at New Orleans, no land forces. Forts still in our hands, he cannot send troops to occupy New Orleans, much less Vicksburg. Inhabitants true as steel." Gen. Beauregard has written on this in pencil: "What do you propose doing with force under your orders, without Engines or Cars, or by burning Manchae bridge, enemy cannot use Northern R Road. G. T. B."

1366 The Same. Military Telegram. Tangipahoe, April 30, 1862. To Genl. Beauregard.

"Have just returned from the city, offered to bring in my troops if the people would stand bombardment, but men at forts mutinied & Duncan had to give them up, which stopped plans. The enemy will occupy the city under the guns of his fleet, but there has been no surrender by troops or people. City appears quiet & orderly & I do not think there is any danger for families or citizens. I can do nothing here but organize & saving all public property, help to hold Vicksburg, and support Corinth," &c. Genl. Beauregard has written at the end in pencil: "Send Genl. Smith soon as practically, with one Reg't & Artillerists to fortify & defend River below Vicksburg, heavy guns are at Jackson, Miss. Get all the arms you can, & arm men —— to send here immediately. G. T. B."

1367 The Same. Military Telegram. Tangipahoe, May 1, 1862. To Genl. Beauregard.

1394 Winder, John H. Brig.-General. Military Telegrams during 1862–5. To Genl. Beauregard. 9 pieces

1395 Wise, Henry A. Brig.-General. Military Telegrams during June, 1865, from Petersburg. To Genl. Beauregard. 12 pieces
Relating to the Siege of Petersburg.

1396 Military Telegrams from Confederate War Governors to Genl. Beauregard during 1862 to 1865. 87 pieces

1397 Military Telegrams to Genl. P. G. T. Beauregard from 1862 to 1865, from the Generals Commanding in the District under his Command, and which embraced many of the most important battles of the War. They are from Generals D. W. Adams, Patten Anderson, M. L. Bonham, J. C. Breckenridge, M. C. Butler, Jas. Chestnut, M. D. Corse, Jas. Dearing, D. G. Duncan, Arnold Elzey, R. S. Ewell, S. W. Ferguson, J. H. Forney, B. D. Fry, J. F. Gardner, S. R. Gist, J. Gorgas, A. Gracie, B. H. Helm, R. F. Hoke, D. H. Hill, S. Jones, S. R. Lawton, S. D.

Lee, D. Leadbetter, L. McLaws, J. C. Pemberton, G. A. Pillow, J. S. Preston, J. M. St. John, J. E. Slaughter, G. W. Smith, A. P. Stewart, and many others. 450 pieces

Historically speaking, these telegrams are of the greatest importance, as they indicate the movements and operations of the Confederate troops, before, during and after the great battles of Shiloh, Siege of New Orleans, Savannah, Charleston and Petersburg, The Battle of Corinth, Fort Donelson, and the many sanguinary conflicts during Sherman's Raid through Georgia and the Carolinas; about 100 of them are stained and in poor order, but the great majority are in excellent condition. Many contain the answer in the Autograph of Genl. Beauregard, and not a few are in Cypher, and in most cases with the translation.

1397A Military Telegrams to Genl. P. G. T. Beauregard between 1862 to 1865, from the Aides connected with the various commands in the Department commanded by Genl. Beauregard. 2096 pieces

This, like the preceding Lot, is of great historical importance, as they also indicate the movements and operations of the troops, before, during and after the many important battles in which the Army of the Potomac and Department of the West, where engaged, under Genl. Albert Sidney Johnston, Genl. G. T. Beauregard, Genl. Jos. E. Johnston, and other Commanders. Some are in the Autograph of their Authors, others are in the regulary printed Telegram forms, and many have the Autograph answers of Genl. Beauregard; about 200 are stained and somewhat damaged, but the great majority are in good shape.

REPORTS OF BATTLES.

BEAUREGARD'S REPORT OF THE BATTLES OF BULL RUN, MANASSAS AND SHILOH.

1398 Beauregard, Genl. P. G. T. His own Manuscript Copy, signed, of the Report on the Battle of Bull Run. Head Quarters, 1st Corps, Army of the Potomac, Manassas, Aug. 25, 1861. 25 pages, 4to. Neatly written.

* Report of the Battle of Manassas (Second Bull Run). His own Manuscript Copy, signed. 70 pages, 4to. Neatly written.

* Report of the Battle of Shiloh. His own Manuscript, signed. Head Quarters, Army of the Mississippi, Corinth, Miss., April 11, 1862. 22 pages, 4to.

The three reports bound in one volume, with a neatly written title. On the fly leaf General Beauregard has written in pencil:

"N. O. Nov. 25, 1865. To be returned by Genl. R^t E. Lee whenever no longer required. G. T. Beauregard."

The First Battle of Bull Run was fought on July 21, 1861. The Battle of Manassas or Second Bull Run was fought Aug. 28–30, 1862, and the Battle of Shiloh was fought April 6 and 7, 1862, and these three battles were the most important of the first years of the War, and their results instilled the Southern heart with hope of final victory for their cause, but the prestige of this victory of the Southland only stimulated the North to greater efforts, and history tells how fruitless were these early victories. Probably no other battles of the Civil War has caused more controversy, and no other battles are fresher in the minds of living participants, but gradually the tangle is being undone, and with undoubted evidence, like the papers in this collection, errors of history are being corrected, and we are able, with malice toward none, to let our hearts swell with pride for the numerous deeds of unheard of bravery, exhibited by the gallant soldiers who were the Blue and Gray. It was at the Battle of Bull Run where Genl. Thos. J. Jackson won the title of "Stonewall" given by the lamented Genl. Bernard E. Bee, who gave up his life on that memorable field, and who called upon his wavering lines to look at General Jackson and his men, "they stand like a stonewall." This infused his men with fresh valour, and immortalized the name of "Stonewall" Jackson. Of the Battle of Shiloh, we never had, on the Northern side, but a garbled report, for some reason that of Genl. Grant's was never published, and the papers relating to that affair, on the Northern side, were accidentally ? consumed by fire in the War Department. Consequently, this report of Genl. Beauregard's is about all we have from the Commanding Officer of the Confederate Army on that affair, as it is quite probable the original report sent to the Confederate Government at Richmond was destroyed at the time of the fall of that City.

1399 Lee, General Robert E. L. S. 1½ pages, 4to. Near Centreville, Cumberland Co., Va., July 31, 1865. To Genl. Beauregard, with an A. L. S. of 12 lines as postscript.

An important historical letter, in the postscript of which he asks Genl. Beauregard to loan him his Reports of the battles enumerated under Lot 1398, as all his reports were destroyed.

"I am desirous that the bravery and devotion of the Army of N. Va. be correctly transmitted to posterity. This is the only tribute that can now be paid to the worth of its noble officers and soldiers, and I am anxious to collect the necessary information for the history of its Campaigns, including the operations in the valley and western Va. from its organization to its final surrender.

I have copies of my reports of the battles commencing with those around Richmond in '62, to the end of the Penn[a] Campaign; but no report of the Campaign in '64, and of the operations of the events of 1864–65, to the 1st April '65 has been written; and the Corps and Division reports for that period which had been sent to Hd Qrs before the abandonment of the lines before Petersburg, with all the records, returns, maps, plans, &c. were destroyed the day before the army reached Appomattox C. H. My letter books, public and confidential, were also destroyed; and the regular reports and returns transmitted to the Adjt. Genl. at Richmond, have been burned or lost.

Should you have copies of the reports of the operations of your Command within the period specified (from 1st May '64 to 1st April '65), or should you be able to secure them, I will be greatly obliged to you to send them to me. Should you be able to procure reports of other commands, returns of the effective strength of the Army at any of the battles from the 1st Manassas to the 1st April '65, or copies of my official orders, letters, &c. You will confer an additional favor by sending them to me.

Very respectfully & truly
R. E. Lee.

My dear Gen'l.

I send you the foregoing, hoping you may be able to send me an account of your operations in Va. in '64 Among my lost papers was everything I had relative to your operations in '61 in Va. Have you any printed Copy to spare of your report of Battle of Manassas, or can you direct me where to procure one? I trust your health is good, though the future now looks dark & gloomy, I pray that your Course may be Serene & bright, be crowded with happiness & prosperity. Most truly yours
R. E. Lee.

Can you send me copy of my letter to you on being relieved by Genl. Johuston in N. C. & your reply?"
